Dermatonics®

Your Nutridermaceutical® Difference

Dermatonics® is your skincare range formulated by our team of medical research experts dedicated to bring you the best that both nature and science has to offer. The health and medical benefits of natural extracts (phytotherapy) are astounding, and we are learning more every day. We have a passion to translate the best active ingredients that nature can provide, into solutions that truly benefit your skin.

Each of our skincare products and professional treatments are carefully formulated using our in-house Nutridermaceutical Technology® to bring you results that you can feel and see. We ensure that our products are packed with multiple natural active ingredients that work together in synergy to address your skin goals. Our mission is to develop the most advanced skincare based on natural actives that are both effective and gentle, embracing the best that science has to offer for the skin.

At Dermatonics® we help you achieve your beautiful skin in collaboration with your skin therapist.

Our Story

Dermatonics® was founded by the wife and husband team of Dr Donna Lee Marcal and Dr Helder Marcal. With the collective backgrounds of Biochemistry, specialising in inflammatory pathways, and Biomedical Engineering, focusing on wound healing and tissue regeneration, Dermatonics® was developed as a unique skincare range, based on amazing natural extracts, from the Blue Mountains in Australia. Our formulas are so innovative in the way they are created, we developed a world first NUTRIDERMACEUTICALS® to describe their formulation and mechanism of delivery.

One of the central differences in our products is the use of a unique ingredient, Curcuma xanthorrhiza (Javanese Turmeric). With the amazing, beneficial and scientifically backed properties of the unique active molecule xanthorrhizol, and our numerous natural active extracts, our products deliver results without being harsh on the skin.

We pride ourselves on harnessing the outstanding properties of Australian natural actives, complimented with unique active ingredients from around the world. We ensure that our natural active ingredients are of the highest quality and purity, using a gentle and green technology - Supercritical Fluid Extraction (SFE). Using SFE provides ultra-pure ingredients that remain active and are safer start materials. This is complemented by our in-house trade secret skin delivery system Responsive ExtraCellular matrix Enhancement Technology (RECET™). These advanced scientific methods guarantee our certificate of authenticity at the molecular level, well beyond 'organic'. Our advanced technologies enable safer formulations with superior clinical grade natural skincare products.

Our formulas are truly authentic, eco-friendly, packed with natural actives and enable a purpose driven difference. Our gift to you.
